Electropoise

TWO MONTHS $5

For a few weeks this wonderful healing instrument will be rented (with privilege to purchase) at the nominal sum of $5.00 for two months, after which time the rental price will be advanced to former rates. Those ordering at once will have their rental contract dated May 15th, thus getting over two months service. The process by which the Electropoise causes the system to absorb oxygen (the arch enemy of bacilli, germs, and all kinds of disease) is too well known to explain here, pamphlets on application. Don't lose this last chance to get the use of the Electropoise at a bargain.

Book Banks.

A new fad has recently taken quite a strong grip on the community, and it has disposed of many ten-cent pieces. This is the ten-cent book, a volume shaped something like a scrapbook, with holes in each page. If you place a ten-cent piece in one of these it is held in place until every hole in the book is filled, and there are five dollars saved. Many church societies started these books, and the young ladies belonging to them carry these books around with them and try to get contributions from every one of their friends. It is surprising, too, how many ten-cent banks are in daily use in the city. They may be found in thousands of homes, and many men and boys carry them about in their pockets. It is said that there is quite a demand for these banks in the stores where they are sold.—Boston Journal.

Astrup's Fatal Accident.

The death of Givino Astrup, formerly of the Peary expedition, was due to a curious accident. According to a letter in the London Times, "he left Jerkin, a well-known post-station on the Dovre Fjord, on December 27 last, intending to cross the Rondane mountains to a farm near Lake Atne, and there meet some friends, among them Capt. Dietrichson, of the Nansen Greenland expedition, but was not heard of until the 21st inst., when his body was found only a few miles distant from his starting point. It appears clear that, while carrying his ski, he slipped on the frozen snow and cut his right temple open on a projecting stone. He had bound up the wound with a silk wrapper. Owing, doubtless, to loss of blood, he was soon compelled to lay aside his ski and knapsack and rest, but was frozen to death in a temperature several degrees below zero."

Population of France.

The official returns for 1894 just issued in France show, as usual, that the population is virtually stationary. There were 855,000 births, against 874,000 in 1893 and 866,000 in 1891. But in 1892 the number was 855,000, and in 1890 it was only 838,000. The deaths numbered 815,000, as compared with 867,000 in 1893 and between 875,000 and 876,000 in the previous years. There were 286,000 marriages, being nearly the same number as in 1893. The birth-rate varies from 14 per 1,000 inhabitants in Gers to 32 in Finisterre, the Seine-Paris and its suburbs—standing at 25 per 1,000. The mortality varies from 15 per 1,000 inhabitants in Allier to 25 per 1,000 in Bouches du Rhone, which includes Marseilles. The rate is also 25 per 1,000 in Seine Inferieure, which includes Rouen. In Paris the rate is 22 per 1,000.

Will Last a Lifetime.

Prof. A. C. Totten, of New Haven, has issued a calendar good for 67,713,250 years. It is said to have a very simple key, and is evolved on a cycle of 1,800,000 years.

The sure way to miss success is to miss the opportunity.—Charles.

A VALUABLE CURIO.

An Egyptian Mummy Now on Exhibition
By Bassett & Co.
(Clipping)

Bassett & Co. have been giving a series of exhibitions of curios of nature and art, from time to time, that have been excellent object lessons to the young people of the town as well as those of matured years. This week they exhibit an Egyptian mummy said to be 3,000 years old. It is a queer looking object, and wrapped in its embalming clothes, it is a mute and suggestive link that connects the busy present with the scenes of human experience away back across the dim vista of 30 centuries, when men lived, loved and died as at present, but who to-day understands the "arts of the Egyptian" spoken of in the Holy writ, or who could preserve a human body to last for ages. Mummies are by no means rare; many have been purchased and imported, but they are rare in this part of the country and the kindness of our local firm in securing this remarkable relic of the land of the Pharaohs will be appreciated.

The embalming of a wealthy person in those days necessitated a very great expense as it required the value of a "Talent of Silver" (about $1,200 in our money) before the process could be accomplished, the body having to undergo three distinct processes each occupying some time. The first of these being evisceration and cleaning which occupied 15 days. The second was salting or bituminizing and took 19 or 20 days, and the third was the spicing and bandaging which took 34 or 35 days, making about 70 days in all.

An opportunity is now offered persons to view this wonderful body, which many may not have an opportunity of seeing again in a life-time. It is all important that parents bring their children to see this exhibit, as to them it is not only very interesting, but especially instructive. They read of them in their geography but have not a proper conception of what they are like.

This is truly enterprise for the above firm and shows conclusively who are the wide-awake, hustling business men of this city.

Summer Homes.

In the Lake regions of Wisconsin, Northern Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa and Dakota, there are hundreds of charming localities pre-eminently fitted for summer homes. Nearly all are located on or near lakes which have not been fished out. These resorts are easily reached by railway and range in variety from the "full dress for dinner" to the flannel shirt costume for every meal. Among the list are names familiar to many of our readers as the perfection of Northern summer resorts. Nearly all of the Wisconsin points of interest are within a short distance from Chicago or Milwaukee, and none of them are so far away from the "busy marts of civilization" that they cannot be reached in a few hours travel, by frequent trains, over the finest road in the northwest—the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway. A description of the principal resorts, with list of summer hotels and boarding houses, and rates for board, will be sent free on application to J. G. Everest, General Traveling Passenger Agent, 95 Adams street, Chicago.

President William Heth Whitsitt, of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, has been severely criticised on account of an article written by him for an encyclopedia in which he expresses a doubt as to whether Roger Williams was baptized by immersion, and also states that prior to this time immersion was not universally practiced among Baptists in England. He has been attacked by Baptist writers all over the country, but reaffirms his position, which he claims is true to history. The matter will no doubt be laid before the trustees of the seminary for action at their next meeting.
